BG Quarantines Dogs For 90 Days To Halt Rabies

BELLE GLADE — Declaring an emergency rabies situation to exist, Belle Glade's city commission held a special meeting Monday night and took drastic action to protect human life by passing an ordinance requiring all dog owners to quarantine their canines and keep them from running loose for the coming 90 days.

HERE'S RESPONSE TO THE RABIES ALERT

Special meeting of the Belle Glade commission Monday night to take drastic steps to confine the rabies outbreak is most significant evidence to date that Glades residents are duly concerned about the threat to human life that rabies is.

City Clerk Alvin Crow of South Bay said his community has about 75 vaccinated dogs, about 25 unvaccinated. He said South Bay is trying to get someone to pick up the stray dogs, because "the Animal Rescue League won't let you hit dogs and you need special equipment to catch them." Nevertheless, six dogs have been picked up in South Bay, he said.

At last week's council meeting in "Pahokee" poor conditions at the dog park in city dump were discussed and the introduction of picking up stray announced. The matter wasn't discussed at this week's meeting.

However, 22 dogs picked up by Pahokee sanitation department were turned over to the Palm Beach Wednesday. Inspector Frank Thompson said.

TELLS ABOUT FBI WORK

PAHOKEE — Charles E. W. Gehrke, special agent-in-charge of the Miami office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, addressed a joint meeting of Pahokee Lions and Rotary clubs Tuesday noon at the Woman's Club.

W. Gehrke explained FBI work in various fields, and emphasized the role FBI performs as centralized coordinator of police work in communities across the nation.

The agent said the federal constitution keeps law enforcement a local responsibility, but that the automobile age had necessitated extension of federal laws to provide for supra-local enforcement.

Weeks discussed why the FBI cannot work on some kidnappings until the victim is found, and told how the FBI went to work on the Dillinger case only after the desperado had violated a law of transporting a stolen auto across state boundaries.

Also present was W. Gehrke, in charge of the program, and Ralph Johnson introduced the speaker. Other guests included Bob Haney, of the West Palm Beach police department; Captain Charles Goodlett of Belle Glade, a graduate of the FBI-operated National Police Academy.

State Prison Inspector Says Glades Citizens May Relax -- Prisoners Are Well Guarded

BELLE GLADE — Glades residents need have little fear about the dangers of prison break at the nearby state prison farm, or the possibility of mass escape, Capt. R. C. Haynsworth, state prison inspector from Tallahassee, said this week.

"Despite the fact that tough convicts are among the prison farm inmates," Haynsworth said, "the farm has adequate security."

The inspector arrived at the prison farm to "supervise" the separating of 31 food striking inmates from other felons Saturday morning. Of the 31, 28 were strikers and three confirmed meat and put on a bread and water diet following medical examination by Dr. Theodore Hahn.

One of the strikers was found to be an asthma sufferer and had been kept from physical confinement along with two teenage inmates, according to Prison Supt. C. M. Greene.

Greene took quick action upon hearing of the refusal of the 31 men to eat, and had them serve to them in the field last Friday. They constituted about half of their particular work group, he said, and he immediately ordered the detail transferred to the prison kitchen. Greene said the men were given the opportunity of partaking of the evening chow but refused.

The superintendent said his force of about 40 armed men — 20 of them from the prison staff and the remainder from State Highway Patrol and the Belle Glade police department — were on hand to prevent disorder with the strikers. They were separated from other inmates Saturday and placed in solitary confinement.

Haynsworth said he interviewed the strikers individually to try to determine the cause of their strike. Working in dusty fields and complaints about pay and were most of the reasons given, although Haynsworth said some of the strikers had to think up some quick answers to his questioning about complaints.

The inspector said he had made an unannounced tour of the prison on Sunday, June 11. Accompanied by an inmate, he talked informally with many prisoners and found no complaints as to the food and manhandling in the prison population at that time, he said.

Haynsworth said he believed the food at the prison farm was as good or better than that served at other state institutions. He said the food was good, food at all prisons, and are usually in field rations because "you have to feed them something you can transport to the field."

The Glades farm furnishes sugar, syrup, canned tomatoes and canned beef for consumption locally and in other state institutions, Greene said. Fresh vegetables, grown on the farm, including corn, tomatoes, beans, etc., are served in season, too.

Prisoners are served fresh milk and butter, Greene explained, as well as fresh meat stored in the farm's refrigerated lockers.

Both officials admitted the for quite some time.

PRISON 'DRUNKS' GET SAME TREATMENT DESPITE DEATH

State Prison Inspector R. C. Haynsworth, Glades OBSERVER

he now no longer exists between the food strike at Glades State Prison Farm last week and the death in June of an inmate who drank denatured alcohol and passed away in solitary confinement without medical attention.

Asked if prison officials or guards have been instructed to alter their procedure of handling any future incidents of food strikes, he said, "I don't know if they drink denatured alcohol and pass away in solitary confinement without medical attention."

However, the inspector said the investigation of all circumstances surrounding the inmate's death is continuing and could result in changes of prison routine handling of such cases.

Reliability of prison food varies periodically as the quality of prisoner-cooks changes. Prisoners are not especially trained to be cooks, Greene said, and some inmates' eating fare is somewhat dependent upon the cook's having had good civilian cooking experience.

Haynsworth said he believed the Glades inmates unrest was not caused by the heat, but rather by the lack of fresh meat in the farm's refrigerator lockers.

Both officials admitted the for quite some time.

Mrs. Armstrong Charges That Chief Defied Council

PAHOKEE — Initial use of microphones Monday night at the recessed Pahokee council meeting to discuss building of a sidewalk along 1.1 mile of east Main St. allowed a large audience to adequately hear councilmen at work.

The audience heard plenty, too, as Councilman Mrs. L. W. Armstrong addressed her remarks directly to Police Chief Leon Guthrie and demanded to know on what authority he allegedly countermanded action by her and Councilman Edgar Wilder.

Background to the fracas was Guthrie's comment at the July 9 meeting that repair of his possibly damaged automobile, invented by Bill Pierce of Belle Glade, revealed exclusively last week in GLADES OBSERVER, Congressman Paul Rogers has recommended trading the auto for a new one.

Councilman Armstrong revealed at the July 23 meeting that she and Wilder had driven the cruiser to Harold Johnson's garage, where Wilder's car was put in, safe, useable condition. Johnson's bill totalled $29.83, with additional necessary repairs estimated to cost from $35 to $50.

At Monday night's meeting, Mrs. Armstrong said she had noted the relatively small amount required to repair the auto, and the police chief's comment that the auto wasn't being used.

So, said Mrs. Armstrong, on Tuesday a week ago she called again on Harold Johnson, who she said informed her that Guthrie had told him "not to do any more work on the auto, and he has been because when Loren (Councilman Meredith) gets home we're going to get a new car anyway."

Confronted with this charge at the Monday meeting, Guthrie denied having given Johnson any such instructions. He quoted Johnson as having said he couldn't fix the auto adequately and that he would have to send it to Stuart for repairs.

Subsequent to the Johnson incident, the auto was further damaged at Pahokee Motor Company at a cost of $59.30, broken down as follows: steering worm, $2.80, clutch, $31.00, line up front end, $7.50.

Mrs. Armstrong, who is responsible for city hall administration and city police, as commissioner, said that she wasn't going to be "pushed around."

The police department is primarily responsible of Councilman Loren (Meredith) who has been absent from the city for several months. But Guthrie, as an elected police chief, has some obligations to work his factors to make recommendations as to departmental operations, some onlookers opined.

Concerning the sidewalk project, property owners were asked to contribute $100 toward the cost of the walkways which might run as high as $250 to $300 per foot, depending on elevation of the walks. Further information will be supplied by engineers for a presentation at the Aug. 13 council meeting.

Charles Wilkinson addressed the sidewalk project and requested that local engineers be given the opportunity to come up with the preliminary sidewalk survey.

Bill Moss, representing the Lions Club, requested help from the city in repairing the backstop for the softball field at the city park, but was told the city hasn't funds for such work at this time.

Duncan Padgett said the city playground park was the "saddle" of the park and that it was a safe place for youngsters, adding "since we're taxed for everything, why not add a tax to cover making the city park first-rate."

MORE ABOUT FOUR BILLION BUCKS Freshman Congressman Paul Rogers' Hoover Report bill has passed. It is aimed at putting into being most of the recommendations made by the Hoover Commission for modernizing the government, budgeting and accounting procedures. It gets into the realm of high finance — and gives the Congress a closer control over the money they appropriate. Estimates made by the Hoover Commission say it will save Uncle Sam something like $4 billion — plus or minus a few million. The bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator John Kennedy (D-Mass.).

CITRUS FOREIGN RELATIONS: The Florida Citrus Commission is out to recuperate the European market for Florida juice that was lost during the war. It's developing toward this goal is a plan to open a sales office in Stockholm, Sweden. In Washington this week, visiting on Capitol Hill and the State Department before sailing for his new post is the man who will manage the office, Sven Nelson.

Nelson is a native of Florida. He was born near Lakeland 28 years ago and instead of going to school in Florida, his parents sent him to the University of Stockholm.

It looks like the Citrus Commission has found the right kind of fellow for this important task. He was born and raised in the citrus belt. But he looks Swedish — talks Swedish — and has a lovely Swedish wife — Anna-Louise. His office is the second to be opened in Europe by the Citrus Commission. The other is located in Frankfurt, Germany, and serves the continent.

BARDIN VISITS BROTHER IN ALABAMA

Peace Justice Robert Underwood Bardin, a Peacemaker accompanied by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Susie Wilson and Miss Genevieve Bardin, and his grandson Vann Wilson, has returned from a trip which he reports will be long remembered.

The highlight of the trip was a reunion in Bastrop, Ala., with his brother Wayne whom he last saw about 15 years ago.

The journey also took the Bardins and family to points on Florida's west coast, to Mobile, and to Lafayette, La., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill's son, his daughter-in-law, Mrs. and Mrs. Pete Bardin, and family.

On the return home they visited with another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vane Bardin, and children in Waycross, Ga.

With bringing this industry operation to Florida should go to Congressman Syd Herlong. Herlong is a close personal friend of Dan Kimball, president of Aero-Jet. Their friendship developed while Kimball was Secretary of Defense.

Result: the move to Orlando. Aero-Jet is a subsidiary of the General Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, O. This branch will be the first of a new architectural research office, working on such things as designs for launching platforms for guided missiles and other classified military structures.

Been a little nervous here for a while — had to keep ducking and jumping to dodge the kids practicing to enter the Soap Box Derby.

This is an annual boys' race, entered by kids from all over the U.S., at Akron Rubber Bowl's "Derby Downs."

And with the hill around this rubber town, the dog can't stay safe until the annual derby fever has worn off. Boss 2 views my nervousness with calmed calm — says I, like she, should not be worried the early morning. She's been driving orange crates on rickety wheels since shooting down the Derby hill, endangering the limbs of poor innocent reporters (who would rather have been somewhere else).

These are the days of safe derby racers, she sez, and any moron can build a subdued, tractable racer from (it never fails) soap box derby do-it-yourself.

I remained nervous.

Got a little jump at all the weeping and wailing about the circus "big top" going out of existence, too. Honestly, all the circus "big top" is a reminiscence of the circus had been laid end to end, a short-legged critter like me would have been drowned in the scaffolding stream.

Now a real disaster would have to come along to put out of existence because of its union troubles, which threatened for a while.

I see by the paper that the circus is over, the battle won, and the opera will open next season, as usual.

What would old-fashioned people who like radio do on Valentine's Day afternoon if there weren't a radio "Rose Cavalier" to hear? What would a dog who likes "Tannhäuser" (we Germans stick together) find to bark to?

Be "Real Cool" With Soup on the Rocks

Beat the heat with Soup on the Rocks, that wonderfully cooling and thirst-quenching drink of beef broth poured over ice cubes. This beverage, which made its debut early last summer, was widely acclaimed as the "hottest idea for a cooler-off" to appear in many a menu. Some 200,000 cans were served last summer. It's an easy-to-get-along-with drink for any assortment of nibble foods. Try it with the happy combination of watermelon pickles, rolled up slices of Swiss cheese, and these cheese-filled cornucopias:

Tangy Cottage Cheese Cornets

1 8-ounce can cottage cheese

1 tablespoon drained horseradish
1 teaspoon celery seed
Salt and pepper to taste
8 slices bologna or other spiced meat (about

Mix cheese with sour cream, horseradish and seasonings; chill. To make filled cornets, fold over each thin slice of bologna and secure with wooden pick. Fill with cheese mixture and chill before serving. Makes approximately 8 cornets.

Farm Wives Behind the Times? . . .

Not So—As This Kitchen Will Show

By IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau

Farm homes—and kitchens—are a far cry, in many cases, from what they used to be, and, for that matter, are not the sort of modern kitchens in which residence was replaced by the neat one-story house shown below.

The new home has a maximum of three bedrooms, a bathroom, including an electric range. And, speaking of electric ranges, innovations in them are growing at a pace that is truly amazing, and that is the nation. That they don't, is a tribute to a host of design specialists who always seem to be one step behind the pack.

Among the newest of the new improvements in today's models are such things as: (1) broilers; (2) raisable grates; (3) oven door; (4) broiler crank; (5) double grill handles that hook to the back of the broiler pan for turning; (6) knockout; (7) surface unit controls; (8) open on and off.

from burning; disposable oven linings; (9) 40-in. electric range; (10) electric range with a quick heat; (11) electric range with a built-in oven; such as 6-in., 1500 watt; (12) wall elements come into modern general use.

Another of the gains in kitchen are built-in surface units and ovens. There are both permanently located surface units and those that can be moved around.

When not in use, oven doors swing down in the conventional way or open as twin doors—just open one and the other opens too.

The Record-Breaking Book of Our Times

No book in modern times has broken more publishing records than Norman Vincent Peale's "The Power of Positive Thinking"—the remarkable book which has sold more than 2,000,000 copies in the record-breaking 186 weeks that it has dominated the best-seller lists of the nation.

Serialized in 85 newspapers, featured in 18 national magazines, reprinted in a special edition for 'teen-agers, translated into 14 foreign languages, Dr. Peale's famous book has been read by an estimated 18 million people throughout the world. More importantly, it has helped millions to solve the problems of daily living.

So profound has been the influence of this book that, that the entire "think positive" has become an American by-word. It has crept into the idiom of our language and placed the secret of success in the individual's appreciation of his worth, his ability to meet the important if he chooses, provided only that his faith be positively rooted in God and himself.

"The Power of Positive Thinking" is more than an evening's reading material. Peale set on Dr. Peale's advice—and this is the ultimate test of his practical creed. It has become a reference for twentieth century living.

With the Bible as his inspiration, Peale uses the same simple, forthright style his philosophy—which he illustrates with the case histories of men he has observed as a preacher, lecturer and writer. His rules are applicable to all the problems of today, even to buying a house, getting a job, or of proving your health. The goals in both spiritual and physical terms, are success and happiness.

In an era when many entertainers try to beat the record, the remarkable record of "The Power of Positive Thinking" stands alone. Dr. Peale's simple but forceful faith has changed the lives of millions and many translations have crossed international boundaries as a true ambassador of the moral foundations of America.

Shepard Is New Hospital Director

CANAL POINT — O. H. Shepard, superintendent of the United States Sugar Corporation operating hospital, was recently appointed by Governor Leroy Collins to serve a three-year term on Northwestern Palm Beach County Public Hospital board of directors.

Collins' appointment of Shepard followed the recommendation of the directors, who in 1953 adopted a policy of having no director succeed himself in office.

Shepard succeeds Director Albert Fremd, of Canal Point, who has served on the board since 1949 when the hospital district was split. He has served as board chairman the past two years.

The hospital district supports Everglades Memorial Hospital in Pahokee, with three directors on the board, vice-chairman and the remaining two, terms of nearby areas, per terms of the hospital district charter.

HERE'S HEALTH!

THE FIRST AMERICAN COLONISTS PLANTED PEACHES. THE INDIANS QUICKLY SPREAD THEIR CULTIVATION FAR AHEAD OF THE WHITE SETTLEMENTS.

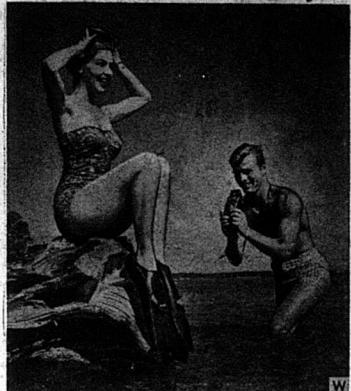

THE WORD "PEACH" IS USED AS A SLANG WORD. A PRETTY GIRL IS CALLED A PEACH BECAUSE HER SKIN IS SOFT AND HER DISPOSITION IS SWEET.

RIPE, LUSCIOUS PEACHES ARE GOOD MORNING, NOON AND NIGHT. THEY ARE DELICIOUS SLICED IN CUBES AS WELL AS IN SALADS, SHORTCAKES AND IN PIES.

PEACHES CAME TO EUROPE FROM PERSIA ALONG THE SILK ROUTES IN THE PRE-CHRISTIAN ERA. THEY WERE ONCE CALLED "PERSIAN APPLES."

HOW TO CAPTURE A MERMAID

Pretty Carol Durant is snapped by a friend as she adjusts her diving mask for another plunge. Carol knows that the last-attire makes a good prop for an amusing souvenir snapshot. At seaside or lakeside the use of props enhances the average snapshot of wife or girl friend—as long as the model remains relaxed and natural-looking.

Another way to get the glamour pictures you'll want to bring back from the beach this summer is to shoot in the morning or afternoon. Then the sunlight is gentler than the midday sun, which can cause deep shadows around the girl's eyes. Sand reflects sun's rays, so beach scenes should be treated as bright, not average, photographic subjects.

Rail oddities

This month the State of Iowa and the railroads commemorative the 75th anniversary of a legendary deed of heroism performed by a girl of 15—Kate Shaeley, whose father had been a section foreman.

Torrential rains for a week had brought to flood stage all the streams and meadows. Then a locomotive on the bridge of July 6, 1911. The railroads had sent a pilot engine to test the track. Through a flash of lightning, Kate saw the locomotive drop through a bridge into the churning waters of Honey Creek.

With a Chicago-bound passenger train due in at hour, this young girl went out into the darkness and the storm. She made her perilous way on hand and knees across the long Des Moines River bridge and, braving the flood and exhaustion, to the first railroad station just in time to warn of the danger and avert disaster.
